Animal house? More like school of hard knocks

Books over booze.

 Survey of more than 30,000 university students finds many are too wiped out to party

 It's official. Canadian university students are boring.

 They may think they're all party animals, going hard on drugs and booze. But, according to the first-ever nationwide health survey of post-secondary students in Canada, a third of them say they haven't had a drink in a month and the majority have never smoked a cigarette or marijuana.

 When they are drinking, a third of them report alternating non-alcoholic and alcoholic

Reality vs. perception

 The survey also showed that students had a warped sense of just how much their peers were partying.

- Students thought 80% had used marijuana in the last month compared to the 16% that actually did. And they thought 95% of their peers had at least one drink in the last 30 days when just over 70% did.

 beverages, eating beforehand and setting a maximum number of drinks.

 They wear their seatbelts and bike helmets, they get vaccinations and they go to the dentist. And half of them are monogamous, reporting they've had one sexual partner in the last year.

 And it's no wonder students aren't the party animals they perceive themselves to be.

 They're too busy being stressed and exhausted by their academic careers, according to the study released Monday at a conference of the Canadian Association of College and University Student Services.

 According to the survey, 89 per cent of students said they were overwhelmed by all they had to do; nearly 54 per cent reported being hopeless and 64 per cent lonely sometime in the past 12 months; 86.9 per cent said they were exhausted, 56 per cent felt overwhelming anxiety and nearly 10 per cent had seriously considered suicide. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

'There's a bunch of crazies out there': Fords mull hiring security

Weekend incident.

Woman charged for allegedly throwing drink at Rob Ford

Mayor Rob Ford admits it might be time to hire his own security detail, after a woman allegedly threw a drink at him at an event on Saturday.

Ford has resisted taking on security guards or his own driver. But his brother, Coun. Doug Ford, has long urged him to do both.

"I've always said he needs protection," Ford said on Sunday, before entering the Newstalk 1010 building to broadcast his weekly radio show with his brother. "There's a bunch of crazies out there. Our family's been threatened. My kids have been threatened. Rob's been threatened. His staff's been threatened. So, yeah, I think we need security."

Shannon Everett, 27, was arrested and charged with assault for allegedly throwing a drink at the mayor at the Taste

Slush Puppy

- The @shannon_everett Twitter account, describing the user as a Shannon Everett in Toronto who worked as a designer and yoga instructor, was taken down by late Saturday.
- But the handle was snapped up by Sunday morning and repurposed as a parody account, named Slush Puppy.

of Little Italy event on Saturday afternoon. Witness Zelda Doyle described the drink as a slushie.

During the Fords' radio show, someone named Ed called in and told the mayor he needs to hire security. Doug Ford agreed, saying it would be good not only for the mayor's safety, but also to protect people who crowd around him at large events. "He gets swarmed like a beehive and other people could get hurt," he said.

Failed to make turn

Driver dies in two-storey fall

A man in his 40s is dead after a car drove into a construction site, fell two storeys and rolled over. Toronto police said the man was driving east-bound at about 6:15 a.m. on Joe Shuster Way near King Street when he failed to make a turn. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

Few details as man shot dead in Willowdale

Homicide investigators were on the scene after a man in his 20s was found shot to death in a Willowdale apartment early Sunday morning.

At about 2:45 a.m., a woman called 911 and summoned officers to a condo at 35 Empress Ave., around Yonge and Shepard. The man was found dead inside.

Police cars remained outside the Empress Plaza condo on Sunday, and crime-scene tape was strung up outside the building in several areas.

A car parked on Doris Avenue in front of a fire hydrant was sealed by police. It had been fingerprinted, with several areas circled in yellow on the windows. A notice that it was illegally parked was tucked under the windshield wiper.

A police tow truck arrived shortly before 2 p.m. and towed the dark blue car away.

Det. Scott Purches said the vehicle is part of the investigation and offered scant details on the incident, given the ongoing probe.

"I can't get into details about what kind of gunshot wound or anything like that," he said.

He said police are still looking for witnesses.

"Most importantly, the 911 caller who phoned this in to police, we'd very much like that person make themselves known to us so we can ask a few more questions about what happened," he said.

The Willowdale neighbourhood is a mix of highrises and single-family homes that area residents said is usually quiet.

Dorothy Hopkinson said she's lived in the building for seven years and never had any problems before.

"It's very quiet. The people in the building are very friendly. Everyone gets along," she said. "I just can't believe it."

Police aren't releasing the man's name until they notify his family. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Six months away. Riders feeling anticipation, dread for Union revamp

It's like that scene from The Lion King when the wildebeest stampede through the gorge towards Mufasa.

That's how photographer Christian Lapid describes arriving at Union Station at evening rush hour and seeing the hordes of weary commuters flooding through construction-created chaos.

Like many of the 200,000 users of the GTA's biggest transportation hub, he copes with his frustration with the recently reorganized GO train platforms and ever-changing staircases and exits by envisioning the station in 2015.

Spacious concourses complete with art installations, a new subway platform and glass roofs over the railway tracks and the "moat" between the subway station and the rail station. Unfortunately, before it gets better, it's going to get worse.

The good news is that change is more than six months away.

'Hate is not my religion'

Progressive Muslims.

Fear plays a role in reluctance to speak out against extremism, group's director says

Tahir Gora shouts into a microphone, cuing a response from the sparse group of supporters gathered with him at the steps of Queen's Park.

"Terrorism," he yells.

"Unacceptable!" they reply.

Their voices carry across the grassy legislature grounds that are, with the exception of a few bike cops and pedestrians, deserted. A stack of unused signs, their slogans reading "Hate is not my religion" and "Love it or leave my Canada," lean up against a nearby pole.

Mighty but small, it was not quite the turnout the newly formed Progressive Muslims Institute Canada had in mind for their first rally, held last week.

But when the goal is as big as reclaiming a faith many Muslims feel has been hijacked by terrorism, you've got to start somewhere.

Haleema Sadia, of Burlington, holds up a Canadian flag during an anti-terrorism demonstration by progressive Muslims at Queen's Park on June 9. BERNARD WEIL/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

"We thought, enough is enough," said Gora, the institute's director and a Pakistani writer and social activist.

The quick succession of Islam-linked terrorism — the Boston Marathon bombing, the alleged plot to derail a Toronto-bound train, the killing of a British soldier in London, among others — was the final push for Gora and a handful of other activists to officially band together, Gora said.

Part of umbrella think-tank Canadian Thinkers' Forum, the institute is the latest Canadian Muslim group promoting progressive ideas, including gender equality, separation of church and state, and condemnation of terrorism.

But while many Muslims have long been denouncing the actions of Islamist extremists, there remains a reticence among some to speak out.

"There are progressive people, but they are silent. They do talk, but in their dining rooms," said rally attendee Rasheed Nadeem.

Justin Trudeau: I'd 'pay all the money back'

'I am going to fix this.'

Liberal leader insists he's done nothing wrong, but is willing to compensate charities

Justin Trudeau is promising to compensate all groups that paid him hefty speaking fees to participate in fundraising events since he became an MP.

The Liberal leader said Sunday he'll either give back the fees or find some other way to "make it right."

"I'm willing to pay all of the money back, if that's what it comes to," Trudeau told CTV. "But I am going to fix this."

Trudeau stressed Sunday that all his speaking engagements were cleared by the federal ethics commissioner, that he never used any parliamentary resources and that none of the money he earned went to finance his leadership bid.

"I'm doing this not because I'm worried that I did something wrong, because I didn't. Everything was done exactly according to the rules." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Twics. Awareness group using Twitter bot to mimic Tourette's symptoms

SEAN MCKIBBIN
Metro in Ottawa

An advocacy group for people with Tourette's syndrome is asking Twitter users to let a bot take over their accounts so it can blast out random stuff, including swear words, as a means of raising awareness.

"Wednesday from 9 o'clock on, tweets will come out from your Twitter handle with the equivalent of verbal tics. You won't know when they're coming and you won't know what they are saying, and that's to mimic the way that real verbal tics happen," said Cathy Wylie, president of the Tourette Syndrome Foundation of Canada. The automated tweets will come out with a link to surrenderyoursay.com so followers can find out more.

Tourette's syndrome is a neurological disorder characterized by involuntary vocal and physical outbursts. The stereotype of the syndrome is sudden, involuntary swearing, but it's not the norm, with fewer than 10 per cent suffering from such outbursts, said Wylie.

Kids with the syndrome tend to get picked on by bullies and have trouble making friends, while among adults the unemployment rate is four times as high as the general population, Wylie said, adding that about 20 per cent of people with the syndrome report having been fired or passed over for jobs because of their illness.

However with therapy people can learn coping mechanisms and find ways to deal with the syndrome, Wylie said.

"It doesn't affect how smart they are, it doesn't affect what they can do."

Military

Army issues new rules for booze to mark milestones

The Canadian Army is all for its soldiers raising a glass to toast upcoming milestones, as long as nobody thinks there's a product endorsement going on.

National Defence has issued new guidelines to military units, including the army's most storied regiments, to govern the production and sale of commemorative beer, wine and spirits for a splash of celebrations expected next year.

The new rules include limiting the sale of commemorative alcohol to within the military, and requiring associations to ask for permission to use regimental logos.

The angst is driven by the production and on-line sale of Black Watch Whisky, which featured the famous unit's badge, armoury and a member in Highland dress.

Middle East. Reformist's victory in Iran election puts Israel in tough spot

The surprising victory of a reformist candidate in Iran's presidential election has put Israel in a difficult position as it tries to halt the Iranian nuclear program: With Hasan Rowhani likely to enjoy an international honeymoon, Israel could have a hard time rallying support for new sanctions — or possible military action — against its arch foe, even as it says the clock is ticking on Tehran's march toward nuclear weapons.

The uncertainty facing

Israel was evident Sunday in the reactions among its leaders, who welcomed the signs of change in Iran while also warning the world should not be fooled.

"Let us not delude ourselves. The international community must not become caught up in wishful thinking and be tempted to relax the pressure on Iran to stop its nuclear program," Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said.

Assange slams U.K. for Snowden exclusion

WikiLeaks founder Julian Assange, left, appears with Ecuador Foreign Minister Ricardo Patino at the Ecuadorian Embassy in London Sunday. Assange has been thrust back into the spotlight lately because of comparisons between him and Edward Snowden, who leaked information on top-secret U.S. surveillance programs. After it was revealed the British government warned airlines not to allow Snowden to fly to the U.K., Assange on Friday had this to say: "The United Kingdom doesn't want to say no to the United States under any circumstances. Not in my case and not in the case of Mr. Snowden." FRANK AUGSTEIN/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pakistan. Two anti-polio health workers shot dead on vaccination drive

Gunmen killed two anti-polio workers on Sunday in northwest Pakistan, police said, the latest violence directed at efforts to eradicate the disease from the country.

The two attackers shot the two Pakistani health workers while they were on a vaccination drive in rural Kandar village, said Swabi district police Chief Mohammad Saeed. The gunmen arrived on foot and then disappeared, he said.

No one claimed responsibility for the attack. Some Pakistani militant groups oppose the vaccinations and accuse the workers of spying for the U.S. They point out the case of a Pakistani doctor used by the CIA to collect blood samples of the family of Osama bin Laden to track him down and kill him in Pakistan in 2011.

Islamic militants also try to block inoculation campaigns by portraying them as a conspiracy to steril-

Security concerns

The World Health Organization said in late March that some 240,000 children have missed UN-backed vaccinations against polio because of security concerns in Pakistan's tribal regions bordering Afghanistan.

Turkey. Handling of protests to test Obama's relationship with PM

Government crackdowns against protesters in Turkey could test the close ties between U.S. President Barack Obama and Turkish Prime Minister Recep Tayyip Erdogan, a strategically important U.S. ally in a tumultuous region.

Erdogan said Sunday it was his "duty" to order riot police to evict activists occupying an Istanbul park that became a centre of defiance against his rule.

The demonstrations in Turkey, now in their second week, cropped up after Erdogan's visit to the White House last month, which highlighted a variety of issues on which the U.S. needs Turkey's help.

They include quelling the violence in Syria, stabilizing Iraq and stemming Iran's nuclear ambitions.

One child killed, four injured by landmine

Police say five children accidentally set off a landmine while playing in Bosnia, and that one was killed and the others were injured.

The explosion happened on Sunday in Hadzici, a suburb of Sarajevo. A spokesman for the Sarajevo Kosevo hospital said the boys were injured in their abdomens, eyes and arms. Bosnia's 1992-95 war left the country filled with buried landmines.

At G8, underlying worry is whether recovery lasts

Northern Ireland.

Summit's agenda focuses on tax evasion and trade, but backdrop to talks is fraught global outlook

Europe is mired in debt and recession. Financial markets have hit violent ups and downs on fears that U.S. stimulus efforts may soon be scaled back. Japan is finally looking up after years of stagnation — but it remains an open question if the recovery will stick.

That's the global economy that will confront the heads of the Group of Eight leading economies as they gather Monday and Tuesday for their annual summit in Northern Ireland.

British Prime Minister David Cameron will serve as summit host for U.S. President Barack Obama and the lead-

Members of Oxfam wear masks depicting G8 leaders in Belfast, Northern Ireland, on Sunday, a day ahead of the start of the G8 summit. Oxfam said that G8 leaders must cook up the right deal to fight hunger and poverty by tackling tax dodging. The masks depict, from left, U.S. President Barack Obama, German Chancellor Angela Merkel, Italian Prime Minister Enrico Letta, Japan's Prime Minister Shinzo Abe, Britain's Prime Minister David Cameron, French President Francois Hollande, Russian President Vladimir Putin and Prime Minister Stephen Harper. ers of Germany, Italy, Canada, France, Japan and Russia. At the top of the agenda: new co-operation to fight tax evasion and increase transparency among governments. Also on the table will be how much help to give to rebels in Syria, and a push for lower trade barriers between the United States and the European Union.

Since last year's G8 meeting at Camp David in the U.S., there has been a modest economic upswing throughout the developed world and prospects are brighter after five years of turbulence and recession.

Yet despite progress, the economic outlook remains fraught with uncertainties. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

GIVE PERMANENT RESIDENTS A VOTE

When activists started tossing around the idea of giving permanent residents in Toronto the right to vote in municipal elections, I came to the issue as a skeptic. Citizenship as a natural prerequisite to voting rights is one of those things that just seems intuitive.

But by the time Toronto City Council got around to approving a formal request to the provincial government to extend the municipal vote to non-citizens, three things had changed my mind.

The first was the work of writer and activist Desmond Cole, who selflessly championed the issue all the way up to last week's council vote. His relentless drive and super convincing arguments in favour of the idea made him into a kind of city hall rock star, proof that all you need to effect change at city hall is an advocate who isn't prepared to back down.

The second thing was a belief that municipal government is exactly the place to take bold steps and even experiment. Like with other progressive electoral reforms — Internet voting, ranked balloting, and so on — it's hard to imagine what we have to lose from trying. Cities don't gain much when they cling needlessly to the past.

URBAN COMPASS
Matt Elliott

The third reason? Fairness.

Take away our built-in assumptions about what citizenship means, and it's hard to make a case for not giving permanent residents the right to vote.

There are about 250,000 permanent residents living in Toronto today. These are not people who have come to Toronto for a Blue Jays game and a quick ride up the CN Tower elevator. Many of them are on the path toward citizenship already, a process that takes about 23 months — and, with various hurdles, often longer.

Meanwhile, they pay property taxes — either directly or through their rent as tenants — and make use of city services. What reason do we realistically have to deny these people a say in how those taxes are spent and those services delivered?

Last week, some councillors suggested that to give them the vote would somehow devalue Canadian citizenship, but that's a stretch. There are a truckload of reasons to value becoming a Canadian, but I doubt getting to vote municipally factors into many people's decision on whether to take the oath. There aren't going to be a huge number of immigrants who decide not to pursue citizenship once you give them the right to vote for a school board trustee.

In fact, I'd bet that in some cases the opposite will be true: empowering newcomers with the right to participate in local democracy will actually increase their desire to participate even more — to become citizens.

Idealistic? Maybe. But for a fairer democracy, I'm willing to take the chance.

RE: Parliament Hill Tourist Guides Trained To Praise And Defend The Senate, published online June 16

The content of this article does not support the sensationalist headline. The NCC is not training an army of apologists or propagandists, they are training a group of young Canadians to provide information to visitors about Canadian governance (amongst many other topics).

What would have been sensational is if they had trained these summer students to greet visitors with a stinging indictment of the Upper Chamber or, for that matter, any other aspect of our governmental systems.

It should not, therefore, be seen as an apology for the Senate and its current troubles, nor a manifesto on what the Senate should be, but rather as what it is: a training manual intended to allow summer students to greet visitors with basic information about how Canada's government works.

3 Marianas Trench. Swimming choices

Every party needs someone to wear the proverbial lampshade. The MMVAs got four with these fetching mermaid-man rockers.

2 Kardinal Offishall. Brings the bling

Studded brass knuckles, two watches, and what appears to be a cranky sumo wrestler pendant might appear to be too much, but Kardinal keeps it together with a simple polo shirt.

4 Chavril. Matchy-matchy

Everyone's favourite (not!) two-headed CanCon celeb, Chad Kroeger and Avril Lavigne donned complementary black leather, with a spikey crown for the lady. It even appears that they got the same dye-job at the salon.

5 Ed Sheeran. Let's go Blue Jays let's go

The folk-pop favourite went for local with a vintage looking (all the way in '93 era?) sports tee.

It's a girl for Kim and Kanye ... and she looks just like her mom

Kim Kardashian gave birth to a baby girl Saturday morning in Los Angeles, sources confirm to People magazine.

The baby, a first for Kardashian and boyfriend Kanye West, was believed to be due in July but arrived early, just days before the release date of West's new album, Yeezus. Sources say West was by Kardashian's side for the labour and delivery.

Kardashian and West welcomed their daughter at Cedars-Sinai Hospital, and the new arrival already resembles her mom, a source tells E! News. "She looks just like Kim," the source says.

There has been no official word on a name for the little girl, but Kardashian reportedly told friends and family prior to the birth that her daughter's name "will start with a K."

Realizing you forgot your passport at the hotel or your iPhone in a cab is extremely stressful, especially when travelling with kids. Here are checkpoints for any traveller.

Airplane seat pockets

Never put anything in the airplane seat pocket that you want to have with you when you leave the plane. Keep a bag under the seat in front of you with these items.

Hotel Rooms

Do a room check every time you leave, including bathroom, closet, dresser drawers, even when you are sure you didn't put anything there — little hands move things.

Taxi Cabs

Resist taking items out in the cab but upon leaving, take a good backward glance in case phones, wallets or other valuables have fallen out of your pocket or purse.

Airport Security

We're used to "stripping

Evolution of the internship. Placements not only for the young

The process of hunting for, securing and ultimately completing an internship in a desired career field has evolved into a stressful reminder of the hurdles that await potential job seekers post-college graduation.

The recent release of the summer blockbuster, The Internship, starring Vince Vaughn and Owen Wilson, glamorizes one of the business world's most sought-after internships while lampooning the plight of two 40-year-olds who land a college tech geek's dream job — internships at Google. In the current business landscape, the movie's premise might not entirely be Hollywood fiction.

Michael Crom, executive vice-president of Dale Carnegie Training, evaluates trends in the business world, often working with companies to assess both paid and unpaid internships. As a leader of a global performance improvement, assessments and training company, Crom has seen the importance of internships, for both employer and intern, grow mightily in recent years.

The Internship is Hollywood satire, but is it reasonable to believe that companies could start hiring interns who aren't college-aged?

I think you may see some older people doing it if they make a career transition. Not all employers will accept someone who is not

Ch-ch-ch-changes

How have internships evolved over the last decade?

- "I think with the financial crisis, internships became more and more important," Crom says.
- "In some ways companies began to rely on interns in lieu of full-time and part-time people as a way to fill in some of the gaps that were created by the economic pressures. Many companies are putting a heavy emphasis on using this a screening tool."

Twitter's Canadian director, Kirstine Stewart.
HANDOUT

I didn't understand how quickly the technology can move to benefit the user. It's been fascinating, when you think about Twitter only being seven years old. ... But I almost don't feel like I'm behind because there's always something new to learn.

How will you get Internet users who currently think Twitter isn't really for them to join in?

I think people in Canada, we're pretty technology (friendly); we're not fearful. I think the nice thing about all the different kinds of technology in Canada is we pick it up pretty quickly. There's obviously opportunities to develop more engagement on Twitter. In particular, creating great content will just drive people. It actually pulls them instead of driving them, they're actually pulled to great content. And I think people will have a hard time avoiding Twitter.

What have you learned since joining Twitter?

THE CANADIAN PRESS

Even before she officially joined the team at Twitter, the CBC's former executive vice-president of English services, Kirstine Stewart, was doing her part to boost the social network's profile in Canada.

The frequent Twitter user with nearly 17,000 tweets to her name proudly proclaims that she was the one responsible for convincing the always controversial and quotable Don Cherry to sign up for the social network last year.

On Thursday, she was trying to generate some more tweets in a more official capacity. Representatives from some of the biggest brands in Canada packed a convention room in Toronto for the official launch of Twitter Canada, where Stewart was joined by a host of "VITS" (very important tweeters).

Slide into BBQ season

1. To make salsa: Drain pineapple tidbits, reserving 15 ml (1 tbsp) of liquid for sliders. Squeeze lime juice into glass bowl and add drained pineapple and olive oil. Stir in garlic, red pepper flakes and sugar. Stir veg and herbs into pineapple mix. Add salt and pepper. Refrigerate for at least 2 hours

2. In mixing bowl, place all ingredients except 125 ml (1/2 cup) teriyaki sauce and buns. Using hands, gently mix until all ingredients incorporated.

3. Form small meatballs and flatten in palm of your hand to make patties that are no larger than 7.5 cm (3 inches) in diameter. Place on parchment-lined baking sheet until ready to grill.

4. Grill chicken sliders, basting with teriyaki sauce on both sides. Cook sliders until a meat thermometer registers 74 C (165 F).

5. Heat 125 ml (1/2 cup) teriyaki sauce and pour into a glass baking dish. When

While Freshii is typically known for its healthy choices, there are some menu items that boast an excess of calories, fat and sodium.

Freshii Burrito

1,036 calories / 60 g fat / 1,315 mg sodium

This burrito has close to a day's worth of calories, fat and sodium. The tortilla and rice exceed your calories and carbs in one meal. The other culprits are the beef, cheeses, avocados and ranch dressing.

Equivalent

One Freshii Burrito with a whole wheat tortilla, brown rice, black beans, steak, jack and cheddar cheeses, avocado and ranch dressing is equivalent in fat to two 470 g McCain thin crust chicken and red pepper pizzas.

Freshii Turkey Wrap

262 calories/11g of fat/1,077 mg sodium

The turkey is leaner than the beef and the salsa replaces the high calorie and fat ranch dressing.

Wang, Rasmus lead Jays to sweep

Chien-Ming Wang won for the first time in more than a year, Colby Rasmus homered for a third straight game, and the Toronto Blue Jays completed a four-game sweep by beating the Texas Rangers 7-2 on Sunday for their fifth straight victory.

Adam Lind hit a three-run homer, and J.P. Arenchbia added a two-run shot as the Jays outscored the Rangers 24-4 over four games in Arlington, Texas.

Turban ban overturned

Solidarity returns to Quebec soccer

The Beautiful Game shed an ugly debate on Saturday as the Quebec Soccer Federation ended its internationally criticized turban ban and the Canadian Soccer Association welcomed it back into the fold.

The news was greeted with cheers by a mostly Sikh crowd at a solidarity soccer game organized in a Montreal suburb, where people of all ages and skills charged onto the pitch wearing turbans.

The Quebec Soccer Federation announced the end of its ban Saturday, saying it was relieved to receive clear instructions from FIFA.

"It has been our intention from the onset to get a confirmation that the FIFA allowed wearing of turbans, patkas or keskis," said Brigitte Frot, the Quebec federation's executive director.

Spurs one win away

NBA Finals. Ginobili gives starting lineup a jolt as San Antonio puts defending champions on the brink

Manu Ginobili had 24 points and 10 assists in a surprise start to spark the San Antonio Spurs to a 114-104 victory over the Miami Heat in Game 5 of the NBA Finals on Sunday night, pushing the Spurs one victory away from their fifth championship.

Danny Green scored 24 points and broke Ray Allen's finals record for three-pointers in a series with 25. Tony Parker had 26 points for San Antonio.

LeBron James scored 25 points on 8-for-22 shooting for the Heat and Dwyane Wade had 25 points and 10 assists. But the Heat missed 21 of their first 29 shots to fall behind by 17 points in the second quarter of another uninspired performance.

Game 6 of the best-of-seven series is Tuesday night in Miami.

Whirling through the defence like the Manu of old, Ginobili shrugged off a post-season full of disappointment to deliver a performance that the Spurs have never needed more desperately. He shot 8-for-14 and had his highest points total since June 4, 2012.

Tim Duncan had 13 points and 11 rebounds, Green was 6-for-10 from three-point range, and Parker gutted through 36 minutes on a tender right hamstring. Kawhi Leonard had 16 points and eight rebounds, and the San Antonio shot 60 per cent to overcome 19 turnovers.

Allen scored 21 points and Chris Bosh had 16 points and six rebounds for the Heat, who were stunned by a vintage Ginobili performance early and never really recovered.

Golf. Rose leaves Lefty a U.S. Open bachelor once again

Justin Rose celebrates at Merion Golf Club on Sunday in Ardmore, Pa. GETTY IMAGES

A steady hand gave Justin Rose the shiny U.S. Open Trophy. A wild ride gave Phil Mickelson yet another silver medal.

Rose captured his first major championship on Sunday with remarkable calm and three pure shots on the punishing closing holes at Merion. A par on the 18th hole gave him an even-par 70, and that was good enough to become the first Englishman in 43 years to win America's championship.

Rose hit 5-iron to the first cut of rough, pin-high on the 17th for an easy par. He smashed the most important tee shot of his career down the middle on the final hole, about 10 yards short of the famous Ben Hogan plaque. And his approach rolled near the pin and settled against the collar of the green.

"When I came over the hill and saw my ball laying in the fairway, I thought, 'This is my moment,'" Rose said.

Mickelson paced off a last-ditch effort to force a playoff but fell short. It was a long shot — the 18th hole didn't yield a single birdie all weekend. From about 40 yards away, Mickelson's chip for birdie raced by the cup, securing Rose's victory.

Mickelson, already in the U.S. Open record book with five second-place finishes, added another that will hurt as much any of them.

Horoscopes

Aries

March 21 - April 20

Despite what you might believe, nothing is holding you back. It may seem as if barriers are blocking your path but the closer you get to them, the further away they will retreat.

Taurus

April 21 - May 21

You may have a lot of ground to make up on rivals and competitors but there is no need to rush things. Spend the first few days of the week just watching and waiting. Your time will come — soon.

Gemini

May 22 - June 21

You will gain a lot more respect today if you are direct with people. Forget about being polite, just say what needs to be said. You don't have time to worry about people's precious feelings.

Cancer

June 22 - July 23

Don't choose the easy option just because you cannot be bothered to make much of an effort. If you let things slide now you will only have to work twice as hard later to make up for lost time. Be sensible.

Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

You must not let your standards slip today. If you do, others will use that as an excuse to give less than they should. Always be a good example and do your very best.

Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

If you slow down to think about what you are doing today you run the risk of stopping altogether. Keep your momentum going and keep moving towards your goal.

Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

You may be tempted to highlight something you know a friend would be embarrassed by. It might be worth a laugh but what would it do to your relationship? Keep it to yourself.

Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

Steer clear of financial matters that have nothing to do with you. If you allow yourself to be drawn into a situation you know little about at best you will gain nothing — and you may lose a lot.

Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

Any disagreements you may be having will be short-lived, so don't place too much importance on them. This may even be one of those occasions when drama brings you closer to the ones you love.

Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

The planets are urging you to aim high, even if your resources are low. The bigger your plans, the harder you will work and the more likely it is you will attract the opportunities you need to grow.

Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

It's OK envy others' achievements as it encourages you to do better. Over the next few days, you'll be inspired to copy someone you look up to. Soon others will be copying you.

Pisces

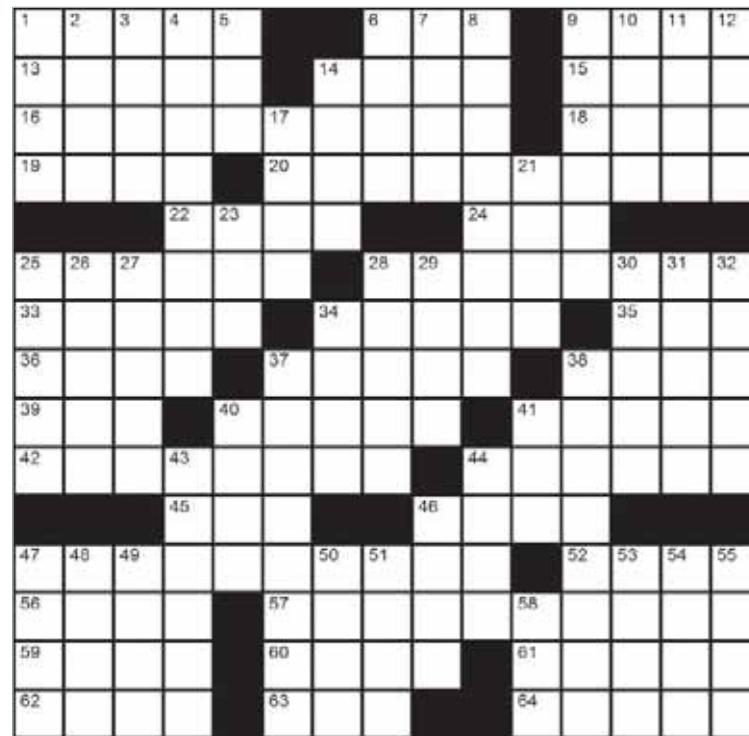

Feb. 20 - March 20

A windfall of some kind helps you believe Lady Luck is on your side, which in turn makes it easier to take calculated risks that improve your chances of success. SALLY BROMPTON
